

ANZSEE Conference 2015

Armidale, New England, Australia: 19-23 October 2015

Thriving Through Transformation
Local to Global Sustainability

Conference Information

This biennial conference is organised by the Australian and New Zealand Society for Ecological Economics (ANZSEE). ANZSEE helps create the knowledge and understanding required to build a sustainable society.

The conference attracts participants from academia, public policy, government and consultants. This year a number of international keynote speakers will present and we plan to hold a special session on Indigenous Wellbeing. The University of New England Business School in the picturesque regional town of Armidale, New South Wales, will be the host.

As a transdisciplinary field of study, the conference will explore the multiple relationships between complex and interdependent social, cultural, economic and ecological systems and is well placed to explore and address how to thrive through transformation by providing ideas for local to global sustainability. Specifically pluralistic and integrative approaches will be used to interrogate these systems and an appetite for collaboration and learning (See <http://anzsee.org/> for more information).

Indigenous Participation Sponsorship Opportunities

ANZSEE wishes to increase opportunities for indigenous peoples to attend its conferences by having a number of Conference Indigenous Participation Scholarships (CIPS) available that would cover conference registration for the main days, welcome drinks, Transformation Workshop and Conference dinner. Assistance may also be available for transport, such as share transport or accommodation.

In addition to supporting CIPS, Indigenous Participation Sponsors (IPS) will be recognized for their support and interest in the conference. By being an IPS, your logo will be attached to all conference promotional materials and banners located in key locations during the conference. An additional complimentary registration for the sponsor (including the Conference Dinner) will be included. IPS can benefit by also supporting specific events, keynote speakers, and/or specific sessions. We are happy to discuss specific ideas and needs for sponsors as appropriate. The tables over the page contain an indicative list of benefits associated with the two types of sponsorship: general and indigenous sponsorship.
